

King of Silos Playford Cement Stave Silo

Others imitate or infringe but none equal.

Only Cement Stave Silo that has been erected for 10 years.

Once up always up. Hoops never get loose or burst. First expense only expense. Requires no painting, repairing, or attention. No fire insurance. Could not burn it if you wanted to. Cannot be injured by any windstorm of less power than a cyclone or tornado. No anchors nor barnyard full of cables.

Guaranteed to keep silage as good as any silo on the market. The poorest silo is better than no silo, but the best is the cheapest always.

Investigate a Playford Silo yourself, and do not take any knocker's word for it.

The Playford Cement Stave Silo has no cracks like the wooden silo, that fills with dirt in dry weather that prevents them closing up in wet weather. The Playford Cement Stave Silo is the cheapest permanent silo on the market.

See It Freeze

A Chicago drugstore which also operates a soda fountain and cream parlor, has installed a cream freezing machine in the center of the room and customers can look at the cream ordered being frozen. It is done by electricity and the ammonia process and the entire outfit takes up but little room, the freezer occupying the greater part of the space necessary.

Electric freezers are the simplest, the most rapid and the cleanest in use, and the private family can have one as well as the big manufacturers of ice creams.

It is regretted by many here who desire to put in such methods of making cream that our electric plant will not be completed in time to utilize during the summer. Individual ice plants will also be installed and recourse to winter refrigeration of Brush Lake for cooling purposes will have ended.

Maud Muller

A Splendid Crop of Wheat

With the exception of peaches, all fruits are cropping in abundance this year and next winter will be a "fat" time for those who like preserves, etc., of various kinds. Capt. W. H. Feagins, who is a high class horticulturist, informed us this week that some of the fruits were as perfect as he had ever seen and said that the preserves would be unusually good. On his place he has an abundance of all kinds of fruit and bugs and insects of all kinds cannot be found in a single tree. The apples are as perfect as any we have ever seen and make most delicious pies, as we can attest, while some of the late pears are as fine as this country has ever known.

On With the New

A mulatto widow of less than a week was going down the street with one man on each side and two following, each seeking the pleasure of her company to the picture show. Aunt Mandy, looking from her kitchen window, saw the gayly adorned widow so escorted and hailed her with:

'Say, how's dis, Minnie? Mistuh Monk skasely col' in hees grave, and you 'ceivin de 'tentions o' gettermens?'

Minnie replied:—"Huh. I ain't crazy 'bout no dead man."

Advertising Schemes

The Courier was informed recently that there is a concern that is planning in the next ten weeks to put on advertising campaign in the different towns of this and other counties. The plan is to get people to pay big prices for ads. to use cuts, etc. to illustrate the work and have the printing of a single issue done here or at the home of the concern which originated the scheme. When a scheme of this kind is projected, cut it out. These affairs make a little noise for a few minutes and are gone. They do not do the work that your local papers do. If you want to advertise, lay out a fund to cover six months or a year, to advertise each and every week of the six months or year and do it systematically. These catch-schemes look pretty and they are put on by smooth talkers. However, they may come to Keytesville and if they do, probably will go Salisbury, Brunswick, and other towns as well. Remember, if you fall for this, you will pay for one week, (it is to be single issue) more than would probably be paid for weeks of advertising throughout the season in your home paper. Take it from us, it does not pay. The kind of advertising that pays, is constant, persistent advertising, done each and every week, ads changed every week and live articles advertised in a live way. One swallow does not make a summer nor does one ad. make a harvest of shekels. Rome was not built in a day nor would it have been no matter how many men had been put on the job for a day. It took years. It takes week of steady advertising to loosen the business.

Could'nt Take Bath

A little Russian boy was sent to one of the eastern schools and all the boys refused to sit with him on the ground that he was offensive. His teacher sent him home with a note to his mother requesting that she give him a good bath. In the course of the next day the boy returned with a note to his teacher, which, when deciphered, was: "Deer teacher, I wud lack tu give jaky a bath, but I carnt. He has bin some up for the winter."

Swat Rats and Mice

We do not see so many rats and mice about our houses now as will appear so soon as the weather begins to get cold. These vermin are out in the world, so to speak, but when fall opens they will seek quarters for the winter and begin depredations but worst of all, they will infect the premises with germs which are deadly. Fleas from rats are the worst germ distributors known, mosquitoes not excepted.

Every family should be on the look out for the coming of these pests and trap, poison or exterminate in any other way at hand. Cats are splendid for the purpose if not kept fat from the table, but there is the difficulty in maintaining the efficiency of this natural enemy of rats and mice. Cats are kept more frequently as ornaments and a mouse become almost as tame in the presence of a John Thomas Henry that is full of chicken or broiled beefsteak as the cat himself. Then too there appears to be a kind of aristocracy sprung up by association, which taboos multiplication of felines, and old Mrs. Cat has no occasion for providing for a family and her tender heart an philanthropy incites her "to live and let live."

Nearly Octogenarians

Last week birthdays were celebrated by three of our old residents. Mr. Hugo Bartz was reminded Thursday of his 77th birthday by his family who fixed up something unusually good for the event for their honored kinsman. Mr. Charles Schell passed his 73rd birthday Saturday enjoying the big dinner and social gathering arranged by his wife and children. Capt. F. M. Lewis of Sumner struck 78 Friday and the spread prepared with the vigor of any member of the present generation.

Between this time and the New Year many in this county will commemorate their birthdays between 80 and 90 years of varied experiences. To them all we wish health, peace and plenty for another 20 years.

Prefers Rain to Bugs.

One Kansas farmer says that he prefers rain to chinchbugs. He says that the bugs had already devastated much of the wheat and oats and had commenced on the corn when the rains came and flooded them out of the corn. He says that there has been a little more rain than needed but the rain will not damage the corn as much as the bugs did and it also gives them something of a setback for the coming year.
